Rutherford Street (Little Go Stream) Stormwater Upgrade

Kia ora,

The next stage of the Rutherford Street Upgrade can now progress following the appointment of Fulton Hogan as the contractor for the project. Fulton Hogan have an excellent history working on challenging projects in our region, and we look forward to them bringing their skills and expertise to this project.

This is a major project for Nelson City, that will involve the upgrade of stormwater, wastewater and water pipes down Waimea Road/Rutherford Street, from Snows Hill to Examiner Street. When complete, this will significantly increase our network capacity, to cater for future development and to better manage the impacts of climate change.

The work will require major excavations in Waimea Road and Rutherford Street, so detours will be in place for the various phases of the project. Overall, the project is expected to take up to 10 months to complete.

The main work will get underway mid to late July. Prior to this, there will be some "enabling" work undertaken, so that Rutherford Street and Van Diemen Street will be able to manage the diversions that will be in place.

The information on the detours is currently being finalised, and we will share these with you, including maps, before the enabling work starts. Please see the attached map showing the location of the enabling works and the project area.

It is important to us that residents, businesses and stakeholders are aware of what is happening with the project, and we will aim to deliver monthly project updates throughout. If you are likely to be impacted directly (by project work such as a water shut-down or limited property access), then our contractor will be in touch with you directly.

Project updates will also be posted on <https://shape.nelson.govt.nz/rutherford-street>. For questions related to the construction, please contact Fulton Hogan's Project Liaison Jarrod Todd on 027 456 7654 or email Jarrod.Todd@fultonhogan.com

For questions related to the wider project, then please contact Nelson City Council's Project Manager Cameron Ford on 03 546 0200 or email cameron.ford@ncc.govt.nz

Ngā mihi
